MORE CRAZY WEATHER?

April 2018 was the coldest April for many. Over 1,000 snow and cold records were set. “The weather in the U.S. has been downright Biblical so far this spring, with weather forecasters practically having to borrow pages out of the Book of Revelations. Andrew Freedman, 4/17/18, Mashable

Then May 2018 was the hottest in 124 years of May records across the lower 48.

Curbed Los Angeles, 6/5/18 As the climate changes, Southern California will receive less rainfall in autumn and spring with a more pronounced wet season in winter. That means a longer dry season, one that will potentially overlap with fall’s notorious Santa Ana winds, a combination that fueled last year’s Thomas Fire—which burned for six months, destroying over 1,300 structures and claiming the lives of 22 people in the ensuing mudslides. But a longer dry season and rising temperatures aren’t the only factors that could contribute to 2018’s potentially devastating fire season. The sudden transitions back and forth from really wet years to really dry years, what Swain calls “climate whiplash”—which characterizes the swing from wet 2017 to dry 2018—and development all contribute to increased wildfire risk across the state.

Heat is to be expected in July, but the amount of all-time warmest air over the last week or so has been overwhelming records in several locations across the northern hemisphere. Just in the United States, Denver matched its all-time record high temperature, Mount Washington didn't fall below 60 degrees at an elevation of more than 6,200 feet, and several spots in northern Lower Michigan either tied or broke all-time temperature records, some of which dated back 90 years.

A heatwave in Southern California saw record-breaking temperatures in some areas including a sweltering 48.9C (120F) in Chino, outside Los Angeles

Burlington, Vermont, had a day earlier this week that had temperatures that never fell below 80 degrees. More than 1,200 daily high or warm low temperature records have been either broken or tied in the last week. As a whole, internationally temperatures were very warm during the last week of June and first few days of July. The number of records and heat-related problems recently is never-ending. Here are just a few headlines:

- Heat kills more than 30, causes blackouts in Canada, Europe
- Scotland Records Its Highest Temperature On Record
- Sidewalks Buckle, Candles Melt in Midwest, Northeast Heat Wave
- Roads and Roofs Melt Amid Record Heat in United Kingdom, Ireland
- All-time temperature records have been hit in several countries on at least four continents.
- One location in Oman didn't drop below 108 degrees overnight.

CNN July 14, 2018 (Japan) "The region itself was experiencing rains, but some of these villages have never had rains of this magnitude before," said Naomi Akamatsu, an emergency relief coordinator from the Japan Red Cross.

"The impact of the disaster itself is increasing more than what we were expecting." "The amount of the rain was enormous. It was unprecedented," said Takashi Okuma, an expert in natural disasters and professor emeritus at Niigata University. "These areas were mapped as high hazard ... it had been decades since there had been something this severe," Bausch said.

Devastating floods and landslides in Japan have killed 200 people in the country's worst weather disaster in 36 years. The deadly flooding began on July 5 and was caused by unprecedented heavy rain at the end of June, worsened by Typhoon Prapiroon, which made landfall on July 3.

Weather.com – 7/24/18 Japan's weather agency has declared a heatwave sweeping the country a natural disaster, with at least 65 deaths recorded in the past week. An agency spokesman warned that "unprecedented levels of heat" were being seen in some areas. More than 22,000 people have been taken to hospital with heat stroke, nearly half of them elderly, officials say. On Monday, the city of Kumagaya reported a temperature of 41.1C (106F), the highest ever recorded in Japan.

CNN 7/6/18 Reports from Algeria say that Africa's hottest ever recorded temperature was registered in the northern city of Ouargla on 5 July - 51.3C (124.3F)

July 2018 Vox The Ferguson Fire near Yosemite National Park has already burned more than 36,000 acres, an area more than 42 times the size of Central Park in Manhattan, since igniting on July 13. As of 7/25/18 Fire officials announced Tuesday that Yosemite Valley, the heart of sightseeing at California's most visited national park, will be evacuated Wednesday at noon as the Ferguson fire covers the park in hazardous smoke. The closure will stay in effect until at least Sunday, park officials said, as firefighters battle a blaze that's grown to more than 36,000 acres and remains just 25 percent contained since igniting July 13.

More and more fires are burning from this heat. There are earthquakes, volcanoes, and floods. Things will only get worse. We need to continue teaching others and sharing His Word, so we are all ready when He comes. Bible Explorations is continuing to do this, with your prayers and financial support, we are able to do this. God is with us. Our messages are being seen all over the world and the emails and phone calls with testimonies are wonderful! Pray we can spread His word to all corners of the world so the work can be finished, and we can all go home. What a glorious day that will be!

WORDS FOR TODAY FROM THE PEN OF ELLEN WHITE

"From this vision we can learn why so many are preserved from calamity. If these winds were allowed to blow upon the earth, they would create havoc and desolation. But the world's intricate machinery is running under the Lord's supervision. Hurricanes, threatening to break forth, are held under control by the regulations of the One who is the Protector of the trembling ones that fear God and keep His commandments. The Lord holds back the tempestuous winds. He will not suffer them to go forth on their death-mission of vengeance until His servants are sealed in their foreheads.” Manuscript Releases, vol. 19, p. 279. And as we are seeing in the headlines today she says: “Local disturbances in nature are permitted to take place as symbols of that which may be expected all over the world when the angels loose the four winds of the earth.” Ibid., p. 280. Oh, what a terrible day is ahead of us. Let’s all get ready! Let’s all BE ready!

BEWARE OF CONFEDERATION By Ted Schultz

At the time that the various churches began to confederate under the World Council of Churches and the various national councils of churches, another much less noticeable event was taking place. The United Bible Society formed as a department of the World Council of Churches. Thus, most of the Bible Societies were drawn into a confederacy of these various churches. Bible societies which were originally a Protestant initiative now began to change profoundly. The UBS became a confederacy within the confederacy of the World Council of Churches.

WARNING AGAINST CONFEDERATION God warned our church of the great danger of confederating various branches of our work. If our publishing houses remained independent in their structure and management, it would be far more difficult for the enemy to make a raid upon the church; but, consolidate the structure and management of the various publishing houses and all the enemy would have to do to compromise the entire publishing work would be to effect the decisions of a relatively small hand-full of people. We are, in fact seeing that process in play within the church today. “The present is a time of special peril. In 1890 and 1891 there was presented to me a view of dangers that would threaten the work because of a confederacy in the office of publication in Battle Creek. Propositions which to their authors appeared very wise would be introduced, looking to the formation of a confederacy that would make Battle Creek, like Rome, the great head of the work, and enable the office of publication there to swallow up everything in the publishing line among us. This is not God’s wisdom, but human wisdom.” Manuscript Release, #133, p. 27, (this manuscript number is missing from the published volumes).

History wonderfully demonstrates the wisdom of the counsel that we have been given through the Spirit of Prophecy against confederation whether that be in the church or outside of it. It is through confederation that a common text of the Bible has been produced which is seen as an important step in the advance of ecumenical relations between the various churches. While the three angels’ messages are calling people of all nations out of Babylon, ecumenism is calling all nations into Babylon.

ACCEPTANCE OF A COMMON TEXT The much longed for “common text” of the Bible proposed by the Dribergen Conference of Bible Societies in 1964 was a dream come true beyond all expectations for no other reason than soft sleepy Protestantism was capitulating to Rome’s wishes as to which underlying text would be used for the flood of modern versions that would subsequently flow from the mouth of Rome. The following year the Second Vatican Council ratified the Dribergen proposal. Two years after the Vatican II Council Carlo Martini, Rome’s leading Greek scholar, a Jesuit, joined the UBS International Editorial Committee and served on that committee for both the second and third editions of the UBS Greek New Testament. In 1975 the Third Edition of the UBS Greek New Testament was published. This edition was a complete revision of the previous text. Small wonder that subsequent versions based upon the UBS text would receive Rome’s approval. But even before Martini’s involvement with the UBS versions were beginning to be produced that was acceptable to Rome. In 1966 The American Bible Societies’, one of the largest members of the UBS, published Today’s English Version and gained almost immediate acceptance by the Roman Catholic Church. Cardinal Cushing who had previously given imprimatur to the supposedly Protestant sponsored Revised Standard Version “did not seek a single change in the text of Today’s English Version before approving it for Catholic use.” David W. Cloud, The United Bible Societies and Rome, p. 4.

COMMON BIBLE MARKS END OF CONTROVERSY As modern versions such as the RSV and TEV meet Rome's approval, there is a corresponding increase in Protestantism's love affair with Rome. Many are those who have been caught up in the kindling glow of Protestant/Catholic relations. "The common Bible [RSV] marks the end of controversy for many denominations regarding an authoritative English translation of the Bible. It is indeed a new day when Catholics, Orthodox, and Protestants can all use the same English Bible." Review and Herald, May 10, 1973, p. 5.

UNIFYING LINK The Preface of the Revised Standard Version of the National Council of Churches states that the RSV was produced by a translation committee that was "both ecumenical and international, with active Protestant and Catholic members, who come from Great Britain, Canada and the United States." Apparently, the ecumenical translators of the RSV committee must have thought the "grave defects" that were said to be "so many and so serious" in the King James Version were standing in the road of their long-envisioned ecumenical utopia. Thus, the production of the Common Bible was seen as "a wonderful opportunity to make a real step forward in the field of ecumenical relations." Revised Standard Version, Catholic Edition, Introduction, p. vi. The Introduction reveals the underlying motive for producing a common text Bible. "With the improvement in interdenominational relations and advance of Biblical knowledge, the possibility of producing a Bible common to all Christians was mooted as far back as 1953. It was felt that, if such a thing could be achieved, it would be of incalculable benefit in wiping away remaining misconceptions and prejudices and in fostering still further good relations between the Churches. The word of God would then not only be our common heritage and unifying link but be recognized as such, and those engaged in theological discussion could appeal to the same authoritative text." Interesting isn't it how the King James Version was a barrier to Ecumenical progress. So, in order to have advanced ecumenical relations where "misconceptions and prejudices" are wiped away just confederate together and construct a new Biblical text that pleases everyone. Rather than allowing the Bible to stand as the final arbiter of truth, form a confederacy that would function as the final arbiter of truth and make the Biblical text comport to its purposes, then that text would become the text to which all would appeal as an authoritative text.

A COMMUNIST FRONT ORGANIZATION In the 83rd Congress, First Session, testimony was given under oath that Dr. Harry F. Ward, a pastor, teacher and one of the founders of the Federal Council of Churches, had for many years "been the chief architect for Communist infiltration and subversion in the religious field." Moreton and Hutchings, World Council of Churches Religion or Revolution? p. 3. The Federal Council of Churches, later renamed the National Council of Churches, was heavily implicated with many Communist front organizations. During the well-known investigations of the House Un-American Activities Committee, thirty (that's 30) members of the Revised Standard Version Committee were found to be affiliated with various Communist front organizations. Perhaps better known is the trial of Alger Hiss that took place at this period of time. Luther Weigle, chairman of the RSV translation committee, was found to belong to six different Communist organizations! F. C. Grant, one of the other key members of the committee was found to belong to eight front organizations. At the introduction of the Revised Standard Version in the Armory in Washington, D.C., Sept. 30, 1952 Weigle said, in effect, that "you cannot use the King James Version and the Revised Standard Version together. It will bring confusion; use one or the other. Of course he recommended the Revised Standard Version." Rowland Wilkinson, The New Revised Standard Version of the Bible Examined, p. 3. If "God is not the author of confusion" (1 Cor. 14:33), then why the confusion when using the RSV with KJV? Apparently God was not the author of one of those versions. Might it be the version produced by the communists and the higher critics?

AN INTERLACING TIE-IN There is an interlacing tie-in with the World Council of Churches, the Federal Council of Churches, the National Council of Churches, the United Nations, the American Civil Liberties Union and the Council on Foreign Relations that is stranger than fiction. For example John Foster Dulles was appointed chairman of the Federal Council of Churches, Interchurch Commission to study the basis of a Just and Durable Peace. But he was also a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and was involved in the Dumbarton Oaks Planning Conference for the United Nations. John Dulles' close friend Alger Hiss was appointed as the first Secretary of the United Nations. John was a staunch associate of Pope Pius XII and his brother Allen was head of the CIA. Dulles being cozy with the Pope while at the same time being chairman of the Federal Council of Churches may no doubt explain one of the resolutions crafted at the first session of the Federal Council of Churches in December of 1908. In their Plan of Federation they stated their purpose: “To secure a large combined influence for the churches of Christ, in all matters affecting the moral and social condition of the people, so as to promote the application of the law of Christ in every relation of human life.” Daniel and the Revelation, 1912 ed., p. 591.

In their resolutions they left no doubt as to how they were proposing “to promote the application of the law of Christ” for “the moral and social condition of the people.” “Resolved, that all encroachments upon the claims and sanctities of the Lord’s day should be stoutly resisted through the press, the Lord’s Day Associations and Alliances, and by such legislation as may be secured to protect and preserve the bulwark of our American Christianity.” Charles M. Snow, Religious Liberty in America, p. 410.

“Thus did this great organization at one stroke put itself on record as advocating religious legislation, repudiating religious liberty even for the members of its own organization, and taking a position in harmony with the Church of Rome, so far as its attitude toward the fundamental principles of the nation is concerned. Thus are these great forces in America—Roman Catholicism and federated Protestantism—united upon one great issue, the enforcement of the Sunday sabbath upon all the people, without regard to conscientious convictions.” Religious Liberty in America, p. 412. This resolution of the FCC reminds us of an insight from the pen of inspiration. “Not a move has been made in exalting the idol sabbath, in bringing around Sunday observance through legislation, but Satan has been behind it.” Review and Herald, April 15, 1890, (7ABC, 977). By their own formally stated resolution the FCC stands guilty as being an instrument of Satan from its very inception. Every time a Revised Standard Version of the Bible is purchased it supports the agenda of this organization.

A CONFEDERACY OF SATAN’S FORCES

“What is it that gives its kingdom to this power [the beast of Rev. 17: 12, 13]? Protestantism, a power which, while professing to have the temper and spirit of a lamb and to be allied to Heaven, speaks with the voice of a dragon. It is moved by a power from beneath....‘These have one mind.’ There will be a universal bond of union, one great harmony, a confederacy of Satan’s forces. ‘And shall give their power and strength unto the beast.’ Thus is manifested the same arbitrary, oppressive power against religious liberty, freedom to worship God according to the dictates of conscience, as was manifest by the papacy, when in the past it persecuted those who dared to refuse to conform with the religious rites and ceremonies of Romanism.” White, Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary, Vol. 7-A, p. 983.

SPIRITUALISTIC FORCES CAUSING A USEFUL CONFUSION

As we contemplate the communist involvement with the FCC, NCC, WCC, UN, and the ACLU, we need to bear in mind that communism is not run by communists, but by Luminists/Luciferians/the Jesuits who in turn have worked through such entities in history as the Jacobin Clubs, The League of the Just, The League of Communists, Friends of the Constitution, The League of Nations, and now the United Nations. This Luciferianism was prophesied in Scripture as the beast that ascends out of the bottomless pit. Rev. 11:7. This satanic power is marked by its atheism, licentiousness, and especially the warfare upon the Word of God. The Great Controversy, p. 269. Woe, woe unto the world when this power unites in one great corrupt harmony with the beasts from the sea and the earth. This is at the very point of realization.

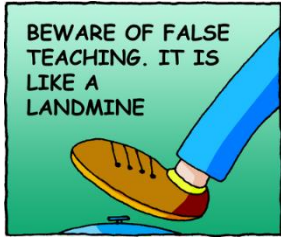

Gorky, an advisor to the former Soviet Union dictator, Joseph Stalin explained the importance of confusing minds about the Bible. “We cannot do without an edition of the ‘Bible’ with critical commentaries from the Tübingen school and books on criticism of biblical texts, which could bring a very useful ‘confusion into the minds’ of believers.” Kerby F. Fannin, While Men Slept, p. 213.

The German theologians of the Tübingen school, through embracing the musings of philosophers, came to the deep insight that the Bible cannot be taken as it reads. In their own reasoning they came to disbelieve many actual and literal events as recorded in the Bible. Many doctrines that Christians use to take as granted are now involved in doubt. Likewise many doctrines that are spelled out plainly and simply in scripture are now given a new turn of meaning through a so-called “deeper study.”

TAKE THE BIBLE AS IT READS “The truth most plainly revealed in the Bible have been involved in doubt and darkness by learned men, who, with a pretense of great wisdom, teach that the Scriptures have a mystical, a secret, spiritual meaning not apparent in the language employed. These men are false teachers. It was to such a class that Jesus declared: ‘Ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God.’ Mark 12:24. The language of the Bible should be explained according to its obvious meaning, unless a symbol or figure is employed. Christ has given the promise: “if any man will do His will, he shall know of the doctrine.” John 7:17. If men would but take the Bible as it reads, if there were no false teachers to mislead and confuse their minds, a work would be accomplished that would make angels glad and that would bring into the fold of Christ thousands upon thousands who are now wandering in error.” Great Controversy, p. 598, 599.

WE HAVE BEEN WARNED Inspiration warned us years ago that startling changes would take place in the belief system of the remnant just before Jesus comes. We have been told that “A system of intellectual philosophy would be introduced. The founders of this system would go into the cities and do a wonderful work.” Testimonies for the Church, Series B, No. 7, p. 40. The philosophical approaches to scripture that for many years were active outside the church would come within its own household. Everyone would still have their Bibles, but the Bible would be understood in a new way. Strange and mystical interpretations would be imposed upon the Word. The new ideas would be presented as wonderful and advanced truths. The Bible would be made to say things that it does not say. The founders of this system of intellectual philosophy will travel everywhere promoting their ideas. “Nothing would be allowed to stand in the way of the new movement.” Series B, No. 7, p. 40. That time has fully come.

ELLEN WHITE TREE PLANTING METHOD

By Lynn Hoag

“The whole natural world is designed to be an interpretation of the things of God” (Counsels to Parents, Teachers, and Students, p. 185).

Over the past 70 years, I have experimented with many systems and kinds of gardens, always learning and fine tuning.

The most important agricultural principles I teach are from the Bible, the writings of Ellen White, and careful observation of nature, called God’s “Other Book.” In my teaching around the U.S. and other countries, I have come across trees planted with only the instruction given in the following quotation:

Ellen G. White Instructed in Planting Fruit Trees

“While we were in Australia, we adopted the ... plan ... of digging deep trenches and filling them in with dressing that would create good soil. This we did in the cultivation of tomatoes, oranges, lemons, peaches, and grapes.

“The man of whom we purchased our peach trees told me that he would be pleased to have me observe the way they were planted. I then asked him to let me show him how it had been represented in the night season that they should be planted. I ordered my hired man to dig a deep cavity in the ground, then put in rich dirt, then stones, then rich dirt. After this he put in layers of earth and dressing until the hole was filled. I told the nursery man that I had planted in this way in the rocky soil in America. I invited him to visit me when these fruits should be ripe. He said to me, ‘You need no lesson from me to teach you how to plant the trees.’

“Our crops were very successful. The peaches were the most beautiful in coloring, and the most delicious in flavor of any that I had tasted. We grew the large yellow Crawford and other varieties, grapes, apricots, nectarines, and plums.” (Letter 350, 1907; Selected Messages, book 3, p. 328)

An example of this method of tree planting, in my experience, is in Bermuda. Bermuda is the top of an extinct volcano, six hundred miles to the closest land, North Carolina. The population is 65,000. That’s crowded. The wind seems to blow constantly, and trees struggle to get a foothold. There are no farms or orchards, as we know them, and food is very expensive. A retired pastor bought a home on the south side of the island on a rocky hill with enough land for a small garden and 12 to 15 fruit trees. The soil is black, about one foot deep, then turns white below that. He dug deep holes, then filled them in, as described in the quote above. His trees, just two years old when I visited him, were the healthiest on the whole island. This is the only place on earth I have seen peaches, pears, nectarines, and apples growing alongside coconut, banana, and mango trees.

Another example is in Tehama County, California, where I gave a gardening seminar to a garden club that advertised in the local paper I was going to teach the "Ellen White Planting Method" the following Sunday. A young Seventh-day Adventist electrical contractor was shocked to see this, since his own pastor was uninformed about the subject and the garden club had no Adventist members. He was scheduled to fly to Germany the same day to pick up his bride-to-be, but he postponed his flight and came to my seminar. Afterward, I visited his home and saw some of the healthiest young fruit trees I have seen in all of North America. The only instruction he had was from the afore-mentioned quotation. Truly, there is some Divine Wisdom here. Try it on just one little tree and be prepared for a miracle.

Starting in August Bible Explorations will have Lynn's presentations he did here at Passover/ULB on our programming! Be sure to watch.

HEALTH BITE By Charmaine Vierra

I eat pretty simply. I sautéed eggplant with garlic in avocado oil for dinner and chopped some fresh chives and basil over the top -- just delightful- I LOVE eggplant. Eggplants are a rich source of vitamin C, vitamin K, vitamin B6, thiamine, magnesium niacin, phosphorus, copper, dietary fiber, folic acid, potassium, and manganese. Eggplants are also great sources of antioxidants, nasunin and chlorogenic acid, that are somewhat unusual but have exhibited inhibitory activity against free radicals, as well as antiviral and antibacterial qualities. Nasunin, which is an anthocyanin, has specifically been linked to inhibiting detrimental behavior in the brain. So eat your veggies! See more great information on Charmaine's website: www.CharmaineVierra.com

Prepare to meet thy God, O Israel. Amos 4:12

I was pointed to the remnant on the earth. The angel said to them, "Will ye shun the seven last plagues? . . . If so, ye must die that ye may live. Get ready, get ready, get ready. Ye must have a greater preparation than ye now have. . . . Sacrifice all to God. Lay all upon His altar--self, property, and all, a living sacrifice. It will take all to enter glory."
